A Room of Her Own

Stagecoach 1997

Volume 99
900 Hillsborough Street
Raleigh, North Carolina 27603

We all have our own rooms, don't we? What is so special about "a room of her own?" Women have traveled a long, long way since the British author Virginia Woolfe compiled two papers which were read to scholars in 1928 into a long essay which questions why men have all the power while women just have children. "A Room of One's Own" is about creativity and writing, but it can also be interpreted to be about womens' experiences in general.

We occupy many rooms as we expand our experiences and our knowledge. We are no longer relegated to the kitchen, unless by choice if we enjoy cooking. The rooms we move among don't have to be enclosed by walls. Any space we live in becomes "a room." Yes, there are dorm rooms, classrooms, dining rooms,, libraries and lounges. But there are also gymnasiums, soccer fields, tennis courts, swimming pools and all of the areas that exist off this campus.

Orientation finds many of us literally moving into a new room. Others of us rearrange the one we already live in to prepare for the coming year. A corner is set up for studying. A place is found for the computer or word processor. Old books are moved to make way for the new ones.

The year stretches before us like a long corridor lined with rooms just waiting to be discovered and explored.

Outrageous, Will Here for U

Who can we always count on to fill a room with smiles, laughter, advice, jokes, and stories about John? Who talks to us straight up about all the dangers lurking out there if we are not careful with our bodies and ourselves? Who is always ready to offer extra help, encouragement, and if necessary, a kleenex? Who seems to know about our problems sometimes even before we do? And who always has an answer, usually one based on a peck of common sense? Who always stands up for the students, sometimes when it seems other adults have written us off? Whose gravelly voice can be heard echoing up and down the halls of Ragland, sometimes teasing Mr. McRae, always embarrassing Mr. Edwards? Who can be counted on to insinuate a bit of off color humor into the drier of occasions?

Did we mention John? Or George? Or the dogs? Or the cats? Or the horses? Glance over these two pages and see the vibrant, caring lady the 1997 Stagecoach is dedicated to with love.

Orientation was, as always, busy, tiring, and fun. We thought we would never learn all the information we were presented with. Even returning teachers needed some brushing up. Girls were scattered all over campus, headed for meals, placement tests, and numerous other meetings. We had parties to relieve stress, made new friends, and helped each other interpret schedules. Throughout orientation the "girls in the blue shirts" were there, ready to point us in the right direction. Although it was fun, after almost a Hurricane. Just the word is frightening in itself, but add seventy mile an hour winds and a couple of feet of rain, and it's pure terror!

Most of the students of Saint Mary's left and went home as Fran approached Raleigh, but a few brave souls weathered it out. The girls of Smedes had to leave their rooms at one o'clock in the morning and gather in the TV lounge. That was when the power went out. Things didn't improve. By dawn, the campus of Saint Mary's was a mess. Dean Jones finally sent all the girls home and closed school for a week when the lack of power meant there was no way to cook food. Trees were thrown everywhere, including onto the buildings, and people had to watch where they stepped because there were power lines strewn all over back campus. The city of Raleigh didn't look much better. Debris was still sighted on curbs as late as December. However terrible the storm was, Saint Mary's survived.

The first year as head soccer coach was challenging, yet very rewarding. Although the ladies went winless, they did mark a statistical improvement from last year in that they tied a game. When attempting to build a program, one's victories range from a great training session to a well played match; one sees the accomplishments day and day out. The improvement from the beginning of the season to the end, game game, was outstanding!

Every single one of the players made a significant contribution to the team. Co-Captain Sophomore Sheldon Elliot and Freshman Katherine Wrenn were definite leaders both on and off the field. They made 1st Team Region.

I am not sure I could have stayed sane each and every day without my Assistant Coach, Eddie Sotomayor.

Teach Your Parents Well...

Parents were introduced to the world of Saint Mary's High School and College on November 1, 1996. The day's events included a talent show and a sundown social featuring the Cold Cuts. Parents came from as near as Raleigh and as far away as Georgia and Thailand. Parents were able to tour the campus, join in on classroom discussions, enjoy lunch with their daughters, and meet the faculty. It was an interesting day as moms and dads took a peek into a Saint Mary's girl's life!

Life As A Saint 1998 Stagecoach

Lives Of

In the past year there have been more changes on campus than there have been in the one hundred and fifty six years of the school's existence. From the closing of the college in the spring, to the opening of East Park (the ninth grade lounge was moved to 2nd Holt after Fall Break) as an exclusively academic building, things have been reshaping and growing in new directions. The yellow wooden frame building on back campus and the parking lot in front of it are gone, replaced by a vast expanse of green. High School students no longer thunder through the halls of upper Smedes. They are housed in Cruickshank Dormitory. New faces and personalities have infused a high level of energy into both academics and activities.

Saint Mary's has always been a center of faith, learning, and sisterhood. Those traditions are still alive and thriving.

The Saints

Dedications

If any one person alone could represent the prestige, honor and high standards of Saint Mary's, Dean Mary Lou Jones would without a doubt be that person. Her genuine smile brightens any room, even if you find yourself in her office for a lecture. She touches those whom she meets in a way which is unforgettable. Her high standards inspire girls to push themselves beyond their limits. Whether on the tennis court, in her office, or socializing with students, Dean Jones is supportive, encouraging and a true friend to all.

The students who attended Saint Mary's in 1998 are not the first group to feel this admiration for Dean Jones. We quote from the 1973 yearbook.

"As we watched her through many long hours of drudgery and relaxation, she has kept her cool and continued to administer to almost every girl at Saint Mary's her talents and advice. To everyone who has known her, she has been a true light in the way of darkness, and everyone who has not come to know her has been deprived of a teacher-student relationship that throughout any student educational career would be long remembered and cherished as a well spent fraction of a lifetime."

It is with the utmost admiration and respect of a remarkable woman, leader, friend and role model that we dedicate the 1998 Stagecoach to Dean Mary Lou Jones.

Dean Jones and Daisy spent time together before Maizy and Lily came to live at Saint Mary's.

Mary Lou Jones early on in 1973.

One of the brightest new additions to Saint Mary's.

Although St.Mary's is rarely hailed as a haven of change, there exists little fear in the face of something new. Among all the adjustments that have come with transforming the school into a prep school this year, people have been some of the most crucial additions. One has had remarkable success in becoming a well-loved member of the St.Mary's community in a short amount of time — not only because of her charming personality, but also because of the numerous trips and adventures she has engineered. Without her efforts (and the efforts of her alter-ego Muffy), a lot of St.Mary's most talked-about events would never have gotten off the ground — leaving the students with nothing to comment on but southwestern night and wreath-making parties. St.Mary's off-campus activities would be a far cry from what they have been without Bridget Collins leading the way. Ask any ninth grader about their orientation retreat and you will be bombarded with enthusiasm regarding Bridget's getting-to-know-you exercises. Ask anyone if the boys at Episcopal are some fine-looking specimens of manhood, and you will be met with some very positive responses (even Liz the senior may verify that). It is with much love and affection that the Stagecoach staff dedicates the yearbook to a woman smart enough, strong enough, and fun enough for the job: Bridget Collins.

How do you make this thing stop?!?!

The rains came and stayed, but did nothing to dampen the spirits of the mothers who came to spend quality time with their daughters on February 7, 1998. They registered in Smedes Parlor, then moved to the dining hall for brunch at eleven o'clock. The Granddaughter's Club sponsored "Saint Mary's Through the Years," a spectacle which showcased contemporary fashion from area stores. Interspersed among the formals and ski wear were the inimitable Buffy and Muffy, modeling clothes which reflected fashion trends from the 1800's to the present. After an afternoon of shopping and dinner at local restaurants, Moms and their daughters gathered in the transformed dining room for a night of gambling fun. Casino Night filled the room with squeals of delight and moans of despair as women played black jack, roulette, chuk-a-luk and cashed in their chips. The night's big winner was Lizzie Davis and mother, Coco, who took away the grand prize of $500 toward 1998-1999 tuition.

S.H.A.R.E.

S.H.A.R.E. is one of the high school social clubs on campus. After being started in 1989, the club is known to be the spirit club. The girls cheer on the basketball team at home games and support the other clubs during the walks. The club, advised by Ms. Hannah Ellis, plays an important role in school spirit.

Undatettes

Strut On!

The Undatettes are a high school social club founded in the 1970s. This social club is known as the sweetheart club on campus. Community service with a local nursing home proves these girls have a good heart. Any Saint Mary's student can trust that they will receive a warm smile from all the Undatettes.

Spiders

Spiders is a high school social club. The club, advised by Dr. Joe Caddell, is known as the individuals' club on campus. These girls stand out with their black attire and grim expressions. After a rough start this year, the Spiders are back as one of the main social clubs on campus.

Beacon

Beacon is one of the high school honor clubs. This club, which is advised by Chaplain Meta Ellington, consists of the high standing academic seniors at Saint Mary's. With community service and a memorable Chapel service at the end of the year, these girls make their mark on Saint Mary's life.

Granddaughters' Club

The Granddaughters' Club is one of the oldest clubs on campus. The members consists of girls whose mothers, grandmothers, and/or great grandmothers came to Saint Mary's. The club, advised by Sally Wooten, donates bags of candy to every student at Halloween, sets up the luminaries for Lighting of the Grove, and holds a fashion show during Mother-Daughter Weekend.

Katherine Cvetko was the Granddaughter in charge of the Fashion Show. Doesn't she look pretty!!

Cold Cuts

Cold Cuts is a college performing group. Besides being the oldest club on campus, Cold Cuts is one of the best known and favorites of all the students. With their bright, colorful outfits and beat to the well known songs, these girls are going to be remembered long after this year, which happens to be their last.

Ms. Mary Virginia Swain, below, is the advisor to the club.

Beta Club

Mission Statement: "The purpose of the National Beta Club shall be to promote the ideals of character, service and leadership among elementary and secondary school students, to reward meritorious achievement and to encourage and assist students in continuing their education after high school."

The National Beta Club was founded in 1934 by a group of educators who wanted to recognize and promote academic achievement, leadership and character development, and community service among high school students. The National Beta Club is now serving hundreds of thousands of students in grades five through twelve. Headquartered in Spartanburg, South Carolina, the National Beta Club continues to recognize outstanding students and reward their merits through a variety of programs and mediums. Advisors: Mr. Randall Lathan and Ms. Kim Benjamin.

Fine Arts Club

The Fine Arts Club at Saint Mary's gives students a chance to experience many different kinds of arts. The girls go see plays and operas which most girls have never done before. The club also holds events on campus to allow students to see films relating to the arts. With memorable announcements in chapel, the club became well know on campus.

Enviromental Club

The Environmental Club provides an opportunity for students interested in the protection of the environment to discuss issues and participate in environmental projects.

Activities of the 1997-1998 Environmental Club included helping to design a campus-wide recycling program, planting trees, recycling telephone books, and increasing awareness of Earth Day.

Co-Chairs — Nancy Di Maio and Katherine Stephenson
Co-Secretaries — Anna Mack Hardison and Catherine Kelly

Treasurers — Em Bishop and Faten Shaikh
Advisor — Katie Floyd

S.A.D.D.

S.A.D.D.(Students Against Drunk Driving) is a club on campus to promote awareness of drunk driving. The club sponsored Mock Tales day in which they served virgin cocktail drinks and offered the results of a schoolwide survey on drunk driving. The club also tied red ribbons on every car on campus before fall formal to remind students not to drive or ride with anyone who had been drinking. The club has become more active this year has definitely made a point with their efforts.

Literary Club

Throughout the year the Literary Club has been very active, organizing fund raisers, and the literary magazine. Since the club was new this year, they had to raise money to support themselves. They had a couple of successful bagel sales, which proved that they wanted to establish the club permantely in order to have a better start for next school year. The Lit club's main goal this year was the production of the Literary magazine, The Muse. The magazine came out in April and the students enjoyed it very much.

F.C.A.

F.C.A. (Fellowship of Christian Athletes) is a new group at Saint Mary's. The club allows students to get together and discuss God in their lives and how they want their lives to change. The club plays fun games and sings Christians songs as part of the fellowship.

Scoop

Scoop is one of the last social clubs on campus whose members consist of high school and college students. The club will be passed on to high school members after this year.

The Belles

The Belles is Saint Mary's newspaper. The paper enables the students to read about what's going on at their school. The paper tells about many people at school and about many things happening around the school.

Close-Up

Close-Up is a second year program at Saint Mary's. The program allows Saint Mary's students to travel to Washington D.C. for one school week. Once there, they attend seminars, meet politicians, and even enjoy the town. Close-Up enables students to learn about their government and even take part in it.

Hey, Good Ol' SMC girls, we went out with a bang! We'll never be forgotten 'cause we're one heck of a gang. We've taught each other laughter, we've learned each other's tears, And when we're old and gray, we'll still remember these years. We had ourselves some Cold Cuts, the best ol' washtub band. Not to mention clubs and teams that we journeyed with hand in hand. That great and strong SGA helped us through and through. So many memories we made, so far from one or two! We'll never forget our faculty who turned us into who we are; if it weren't for their personal guidance, we wouldn't have gotten too far. The thought of every friendship we'll always hold so dear, how SMC brought us together, and ended in our final year, Saint Mary's is not just school or dorms and mixers and boys but a place so indescribable that holds our heartaches and joys...So no matter where we are or what our lives will be, You know we'll never forget our home, good ol' SMC!!!
